

Job Creation

As a business owner Mike understands what it is to make a payroll, to pay unemployment insurance, to pay for not only his health insurance but also for their employees, and most importantly he understands what it takes to create jobs.

The road to economic recovery is not founded upon higher taxation and increased government spending: it is founded upon the creation of jobs. We must reform government in the state of Minnesota at every single level and by doing this we will unleash more opportunities and more freedom. Because the taxes, the licenses, the regulations, the permits, the ant-job bureaucracy is killing our state right now. We have so many opportunities if we can get state government out of the way. We have to make Minnesota competitive and the kind of place where creating and expanding business is rewarded and not punished. Our great workforce has always been one of our strengths: you combine this with a business friendly state and you will have a recipe for success.

If elected, Mike will work for the following solutions to make our state business friendly and to create jobs:

- * Reduce license and permit fees to be competitive with our surrounding states.
- * Cut capitol gains taxes.
- * Cut corporate income taxes.
- * Streamline the permitting process.
- * Reduce business property taxes.
- * Reduce regulations.
